APPLE HARVEST CELEBRATION IS BEING PLANNED

Full Bloom Of County Orchards Is Predicted For This Week-End.

EXPECT VISITORS

Adams county will display her splendor in apple blossoms to throngs of visitors Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21, and sometime in October will endeavor to stage an apple harvest celebration according to action taken at a meeting of representative committees of the Lions and Rotary clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, South Mountain Fair association and fruit growers of the county at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening.

It is expected that the orchards will be in full bloom by the end of the week and arrangements are being made to designate routes through the orchard belt to direct motorists through the county where the spectacular sights may best be observed.

Need More Money
Seventy-five dollars of the $150 publicity fund was turned in by members of the Lions' club committee sponsoring the movement and prepared articles, telling of the bloom, have been sent to newspapers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Considerable discussion as to the advisability of putting on a celebration of a festive nature in the spring during blossom time or in the fall during harvest time took place at the meeting and it was finally concluded to publicize the beauty of the bloom period and to hold a festival in the fall.

To this end a committee of seven will be appointed to effect a permanent county-wide organization to direct the enterprise and make it a permanent feature in coming years.

Gettysburgians and Adams countians are urged to invite their out-of-town friends and relatives to visit the apple orchard bloom sometime during the week-end.

Those who attended the meeting were: Daniel M. Sheely, J. Allen Deardorff, Harry Deardorff, Dr. E. H. Markley, Eugene Craighead, H. E. Riddemose, W. E. Roth, C. B. Dougherty, Henry M. Scharf, I. L. Taylor, Dr. C. H. Huber, B. E. Benner, Grover C. Myers, Roy P. Funkhouser, Elton Boyer, John D. Lippy and Edmund W. Thomas.

PRESENT HIGH SCHOOL PLAY THIS EVENING

"Bab," the Gettysburg high school senior play, will be given to-night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium with a well chosen cast portraying the various roles.

The comedy, particularly well adapted for school dramatics, is taken from the novel by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Despite the inclement weather that prevailed today a large crowd is expected to attend tonight's performance of the production, the advanced sale of tickets being unusually large.

Proceeds of the production will be used to defray expenses of the senior class to Washington and for the year book.

The cast includes: Robert Codori, Augustus Menchey, Sara Sheads, Dorothy Gilbert, Raymond Sheely, Angela Stock, Frances Eberhart, George Stock, David Stoner, Gilbert Myers and Martha Furney.

RAIL OFFICIAL ASSERTS BUSES HERE TO STAY

Motors Handle Million Passengers A Day, Rotarians Are Told.

LARGE REVENUE

Motor bus transportation for passengers and freight is economically sound and "here to stay," J. M. Fitzgerald, of New York city, director of public relations of the Eastern Railroad Presidents' conference, said in an address at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Eagle hotel, Monday evening.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a former president of the Western Maryland railroad, said an erroneous impression has gained circulation to the effect that the railroads are opposed to motor bus lines. "Nothing is farther from the truth," he said, "for the railroads themselves are using motor transport service, wherever feasible, to supplement or extend their present rail facilities."

Is Huge Enterprise

The speaker said the motor bus business is rapidly becoming one of the country's biggest enterprises. "Motor buses handle more than 1,000,000 passengers daily and the bus companies have gross operating revenue of $400,000,000 a year," according to Mr. Fitzgerald. "That the motor bus business has had its effect on the passenger carrying on the nation's railroads, Mr. Fitzgerald was quick to admit. "Up to 1920, the number of passengers carried by the railroads increased steadily each year, but since then there has been a constant decline," he said.

According to the speaker, the railroads have been quick to perceive that motor transport service is economically sound and an established business which they must use where the haul is short, where there is density of population and traffic and where terminal facilities are costly.

Road Regulations

Mr. Fitzgerald then turned his attention to a discussion of the regulation of commercial users of America's highways. "The people," he said, "should see that the motor bus companies render the same service and be subject to the same regulations as that demanded of the common carriers."

Railroads, the speaker added, are regulated up to 75 per cent of their operations by federal, state and local laws. The public, he continued, has a right to demand that the lives and property en-

SPEAKEASY OF STEVE'S EASY FOR TROOPER

Official Tells How Flemming Engineered Way To Apartment.

HELD FOR BAIL

Unable to furnish $3,000 bail on two charges of violating the dry laws, Steve Bordley, colored, whose alleged liquor business attracted more customers than did his barber shop in Race Horse alley, according to the authorities, today was in the Adams county jail following his arraignment before Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer, Monday afternoon.

Steve was arrested last Saturday evening when state and local police raided his quarters in the Race Horse alley apartment in Race Horse alley and seized a gallon of alleged Maryland moonshine liquor, after a state trooper had purchased a pint of alleged illicit liquor.

How Steve conducted the alleged illicit business of purveying liquor and how he was able to inspect prospective customers before admitting them to the alleged improvised barroom to see that they were friends was told in testimony offered at the hearing by Trooper J. M. Cavanaugh, of the local state police sub-station, who rushed his way into the colored man's rooms.

Thad Helps Trooper

According to Trooper Cavanaugh, he went to Steve's home, early Saturday evening, and negotiated with Thad Flemming, also taken in the raid, for the purchase of a pint of liquor for $2. Later, the officer said he returned to Steve's place and again asked Flemming to buy him another pint of liquor. "I also told Flemming that I would like to see Steve about buying a gallon of liquor," Trooper Cavanaugh said.

Flemming and the officer, dressed in plain clothes, went around to the side of the building and the former rang a bell in Steve's apartment on the second floor, the trooper testified. "As soon as the bell rang, an electric light was turned on above our heads, and Steve looked out an upper window and asked who was there. Flemming told Steve that I was an old customer, and Steve unlocked the door and admitted us.

Sought Gallon

"I then negotiated with Steve for the purchase of a pint of liquor for $2, and then asked him to sell me a gallon. Steve told me that a gallon would cost $12, but I told him that inasmuch as I was an old customer, he ought to let me have

THREE INCHES OF RAIN FALL

Streams Overflow As Heavy Precipitation Continues For 24 Hours.

Streams in Adams county were on a rampage this afternoon after a precipitation of more than 24 hours during which almost three inches of rain fell. Both Rock Creek and Marsh Creek overflowed their banks early today following a steady down-pour during the night.

From 5 o'clock Monday evening until 2 o'clock this afternoon, almost three inches of rain fell in Gettysburg, according to Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather recorder, and during the preceding 24 hours slightly more than a quarter of an inch fell.

Rain has fallen in Adams county every day for a week, causing streams to rise until they overflowed today. Late this afternoon, both Marsh Creek and Rock Creek were reported to be slightly receding, but not yet within their banks.

May Injure Fruit

The week's precipitation has caused a cessation of practically all farm and orchard activities in Adams county.

According to leading orchardists, the protracted period of rain may cause some damage to the crop of early apples, such as Smokehouse and Stayman, by preventing pollination. Freezing temperatures after the rain also would cause damage to the early fruit, but this is unlikely as the weather report calls for warmer weather on Wednesday. The blossoms on the York Imperial trees have not yet advanced to a point where they would be injured by rain or low temperatures, except a severe freeze.

factory refused to go into details of the accident. Riffe, it was said, had worked at the factory about three months, but his regular employment was not the operation of the embossing machine. The Times was informed.

While operating the machine Monday afternoon, his hand was caught and badly crushed. The machine is said to be operated under a pressure of seven tons. The injured man was admitted to the Warner hospital at 4:30 o'clock, and the hand was amputated shortly after.

Riffe is a son of Albertus Riffe, of Taneytown, and is unmarried.

Sleeping Man Smothers in Burning Room

Cigarette Ignites Furnishings; Attempts To Escape From Smoke-Filled Room.

Smoke from a fire which started from a lighted cigarette he held in his hand when he fell asleep on a cot caused the death of George Francis Rosensteel, 55, of near Emmitsburg, at the Warner hospital, Monday night at 11 o'clock. He was admitted to the hospital at 9 o'clock, Monday night, in a dying condition.

Rosensteel, a bachelor, was found unconscious in a corner of the room in which he had fallen asleep at 2 o'clock, Monday morning, by Walter Shorb, who rented part of the dwelling from the victim. The room was afire when Shorb was aroused by the smoke, but the blaze was extinguished before the flames spread.

Congestion of Lungs

Doctor Kadel, of Emmitsburg, was called, and succeeded in restoring Rosensteel to consciousness, but the smoke caused congestion of the lungs, and resulted in the man's death.

According to Doctor Kadel, Rosensteel evidently fell asleep on the cot some time after midnight, Monday morning, while smoking a cigarette. The lighted cigarette then fell from the sleeping man's fingers, and ignited the cot, carpet, window curtains and other furnishings.

Rosensteel was not burned. He is believed to have been awakened by the smoke and tried to escape, only to be overcome and fall in a corner where he was found unconscious by Mr. Shorb.

Four Cent Gas Tax Now a Law

Harrisburg, April 16 (AP).—The state legislature today gave its approval to a four cent gasoline tax, the fourth cent to be temporary for one year.

The legislature had three more days before it and most of its work behind it when it convened today. The passage of the gasoline tax was the most important measure before the assembly today. Administration leaders maintained the additional cent is necessary to carry out the program of taking over city streets and bridges on the highway system.

At last night's session some of the most important bills of the session were acted upon finally.

Firemen Respond To False Alarm

FISH SAVED BY RAINY WEATHER

Trout Season Opens With Few Anglers Lured To Streams, By Downpour.

Rain marred the opening of the trout season in Pennsylvania, Monday, and few Gettysburg and Adams county anglers ventured forth. Streams in the county, known as the habitat of the flashing trout, were swollen by a week of rain, and muddy.

R. E. Underwood, Adams county farm agent, who was fishing in the headwaters of Little Marsh creek in the South Mountains, brought back a string of five nice trout. He reported catching more than a dozen fish, but many of them were under the legal limit.

Eugene Craighead and D. J. Forney, two local followers of Isaac Walton, tried their luck at Falling Spring, near Chambersburg. Mr. Craighead brought home a string of ten trout, but Mr. Forney returned empty-handed, his alibi being that it was "too cold and too rainy to fish."

Sinking Spring, near Newville, a favorite haunt for trout fishermen, and other trout streams in the South Mountains attracted many sportsmen, but the heartiest from Gettysburg and Adams county were among them.

HONORARY FRAT ENJOYS SMOKER

Mrs. Walter Danforth And Mrs. Guile Lefever Chosen As Pages By D.A.R.

DISTINCT HONOR

Washington, April 16 (AP).—A petition for reinstatement in the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Helen Tufts Baile, of Boston, was refused today by the 38th annual congress.

Two Gettysburg women, Mrs. Walter H. Danforth and Mrs. Guile W. Lefever, were honored by the delegates to the D. A. R. convention now in session in Washington, by their election to the group of pages to serve during the present conference. This is considered a distinct honor and the Gettysburg chapter is given recognition by the selection of two members to this group.

Each of the three sessions of the first days' meeting was opened by a procession of pages, headed by Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut and fiancée of John Coolidge, and Miss Bina Dineen, daughter of United States Senator Dineen, of Illinois.

Colorful Event

The procession of pages is a colorful and interesting event in the D. A. R. conventions and this year's processions excelled any previously held, in view of the many notables selected to serve in the group.

At Monday evening's session, Secretary of War Good called on members of the order to use their influence to wage "a relentless war on the growing contempt for authority and law observance" in this country.

"This disregard for law did not have its beginning with the adoption of any amendment to the Constitution," he said. "Before the latest of them had been brought forth and ratified we had become the most lawless people upon the face of the earth. This growing disrespect on the part of the American people, which we all recognize, will, if permitted to grow and develop, in the end work our destruction."

For Preparedness

He declared he believed in national defense and preparedness, even though "in spite of the innate stupidity of mankind and its propensity to settle by war disputes which might easily be settled without war, it will be a long time before we shall be called upon again to engage in a major armed conflict."

"Your influence is greater today than ever before. If you are opposed to any statute or constitutional provision, it is your privilege to work for its repeal by lawful methods, but it is not your privilege to disobey it."

Delegates Greeted

Ambassador Ferrara, of Cuba, greeted the delegates to the congress at the first day's session, asserting that the society served as an organization to perpetuate the ideals upon which this country was founded.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, retiring president-general, gave her last annual report as leader of the organization, reviewing the achievements of the society during her three years' administration.

She said expansion of the society would in time necessitate the appointment of assistants to the president-general. She suggested that the eight vice presidents be

JOVIAL IRA IS ON OUTS WITH JUPE PLUVIUS

Bullet Baseball Mentor Anxious To Send Mates Through More Rehearsals.

Jovial Ira Plank, popular baseball mentor at Gettysburg college, is on the "outs" with Old Jupe Pluvius, and all because Jupe has vented his wrath for seven consecutive days upon Nixon Field, preventing Ira from sending his Orange and Blue proteges through their daily grinds. Water, water everywhere and not a minute to practice.

Straining under the long period of idleness, broken only by the nine inning session with the Harrisburg Senators, of the New York-Pennsylvania league, in which they managed to gather almost as many hits as did their opponents, the Bullet diamond performers are uneasy, nervous and anxious to get back into the harness.

Not for a whole flock of years have the Bullets displayed such enthusiasm and interest in the national pastime. With the largest turnout of candidates for varsity berths in years, Coach Plank is optimistic over the year's results. Once Old Jupe lets up enough to give the boys a chance to wallop the ol' apple and run the bases, Ira will be happy.

There is complete harmony among the candidates and Captain "Polly" Challenger and his mates are "tickled to death" to get out and stir around, while genial Ira shouts his orders from the sidelines or takes his turn on the bases to show the boys how it's done.

Rained out of their opening tilt with Mount St. Mary's the Bullets are "rarin'" to tackle the Bucknell aggregation, reputed to be the hardest hitting tribe of Bisons to invade Nixon Field in a score of years.

With victories over Bucknell on the gridiron and the basketball court, the first time Orange and Blue teams triumphed over the Bison in two sports, the baseball performers of G-burg are anxious to make it a triple victory by turning them back in the battle Saturday afternoon.

Coach Plank will send his "cream of the crop" against the Bucknell batters and local followers of the Orange and Blue are confident the Bullets will cop the long end of the score. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, on Nixon Field.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD URGED

Hoover's Brief And Direct Message, First State Paper, Asks Tariff Revision.

Washington, April 16 (AP).—President Hoover in a message of unusual brevity and directness recommended to Congress today the creation of a federal farm board with authority and resources to remedy recurring causes of depression in the agricultural industry and a limited revision of the tariff with a reorganization of the tariff commission.

In addition he proposed in this, his first state paper, the completion of legislation initiated at the last session for the suspension of the national origin cause of the immigration act, the taking of the 1930 census and the reapportionment of congressional representation.

While proposing broad powers for the federal farm board, the chief executive suggested no amount for the revolving fund to be furnished by the treasury and proposed safeguards for the instrumentalities and activities to be created under the farm relief act.

"There should be no fee or tax imposed upon the farmer," he declared, adding that government funds should be furnished only upon application of the farmer-owned and controlled agencies and then only when other services of credit and facilities are not available at reasonable rates.

Torch Murderer Admits 7 Wives

Three members of the staff of the state hospital for the insane have declared Campbell is sane and is not a confirmed drug addict.

CAR JUMPS TRACK AT PENNSY STATION

York—A steel box car of the X-29 type filled with freight consigned to local merchants jumped off the shed track of the Pennsylvania Railroad at the extreme western end of the station, Sunday evening shortly after 7 o'clock.

Both trucks were off the track, but no damage was done to the merchandise in the car. The local wrecking crew under the direction of S. B. Drenning placed the car on the track.

JEALOUS OF HUSBAND WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE

York—Melancholy, because, she claimed, her husband was visiting other women, Mrs. Belva Tipton, 21 years old, of 312 South Penn street, at about 7:15 o'clock Sunday night attempted to end her life by swallowing three bichloride of mercury tablets. Her condition, at the York hospital, where she is a patient, was reported as fair.

Mrs. Tipton, it is claimed, saw her husband leave the house Sunday and then flagged a passing machine to follow him. She became hysterical and the driver of the machine returned her to her home. She then took the tablets and again flagged a passing machine to take her to a doctor, but later decided the hospital would be a better place for a woman in her situation. Her request was granted.

BOY STRUCK AND SERIOUSLY INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

York—Dale Diehl, six years old, a son of Earl Diehl, of Loganville, suffered an injury to his head and bruises of the left shoulder, at about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mercedes Masmore, 215 West Cottage place. Masmore was driving south on the Susquehanna Trail at Loganville, and it is claimed the child dived in front of his machine. The child was taken to the office of Dr. G. Elmer Krout, of Loganville, and later to the York hospital, where an X-ray was taken. Young Diehl was admitted as a patient. His condition is serious.

YOUTH IS CHARGED WITH SELLING BOOZE

Chambersburg—Roy Phenice, 40 year old farmer, of near Greencastle, father of ten children, and one of those ten, Merle, 10 years old, were arrested Saturday morning by county officials for violation of the prohibition laws.

Bail in $1,000 was furnished before Magistrate Hostetter at Greencastle. W. S. Fleming, owner of the farm on which Phenice is tenant, furnished bail bond.

Both the father and son are charged with sale of liquor. Friday night when officers went to the Phenice home the father and mother were not at home. Merle was there with another youth employed on the farm. When the officers said they had come for liquor, Merle said his father was not at home. After some conversation the youth offered to furnish the liquor.

Chambersburg—Lieutenant C. M. Knight, of the U. S. marine corps, who had been stationed at Parris Island, South Carolina, for some time, was ordered to Nicaragua and landed in that country on April 11. Mrs. Knight was formerly Miss Gladys Zimmerman, of town, and her mother, Mrs. George Zimmerman, East Catharine street, will reside with her.

THREE BURIED IN ONE GRAVE

Waynesboro—Triple funeral services for Wesley S. Armstrong, Mrs. L. Edna Armstrong and their son, Wesley, Jr., who died as the result of injuries received when the truck in which they were riding was struck by the gas-electric coach of the Pennsylvania railroad, Wednesday afternoon, were held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon in Price's church, north of town.

The Rev. R. F. Bender, pastor of the Pentecostal church here, of which the Armstrongs were members, conducted the services. Burial was made in Price's cemetery. The three bodies were laid to rest in one grave.

RAIL OFFICIAL

Mr. Fitzgerald then turned his attention to a discussion of grade crossing elimination in the country, a factor of vital interest not only to the railroads but the bus lines as well. "There are 236,000 grade crossings in the United States," he asserted, "and to eliminate all of them would cost the railroads $20,000,000,000. As it is the railroads are spending $50,000 a day for grade crossing elimination, but in spite of their efforts new grade crossings are being constructed faster than the old ones are being removed. For a municipality or county to say it will pay part of the cost of the grade crossing elimination, letting the major portion of the expense to the railroad, is only adding to increased freight rates and other sources of the railroads' revenue."

In closing his address, Mr. Fitzgerald declared that all costs have declined except that of government which is steadily increasing despite representations of economy. Taxation for federal, state and local purposes is now nearly three times as much as it was in 1913, he said.

Eight visitors from the Littlestown Rotary club attended the meeting at which the Rev. Earl J. Bowman, president of the local club, presided.

Howard McKenna, arrested in the raid and charged with drunkenness, was released upon the payment of a fine and costs, amounting to $6.67, at the hearing. Elmer "Neenie" Toddes, also arrested for drunkenness, was committed to jail until Saturday when some disposition of his case will be made. Howard Thomas, colored, who was found at Steve's place, during the raid, was committed to jail as an alleged parole breaker.

MOTHERS ARE LEARNING USES OF MAGNESIA

From the beginning of expectancy until baby is weaned, that's the time Phillips Milk of Magnesia performs the greatest service for many women.

It relieves the expectant mother's nausea, heartburn, "morning sickness," inclination to vomit; helps her digestion. Its mild but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia is better than lime water for neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding. A teaspoonful of it does the work of a half pint of lime water. It is a mild laxative; harmless, almost tasteless.

All drug stores have Phillips Milk of Magnesia in generous 25c and 50c bottles. Always insist on the genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1014 C Marcelus Ave., Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—adv.

From a Connecticut paper:
Masonry.—Great exertions are making to get up an Anti-Masonic party in this State. Considerable excitement prevails in several counties on the subject. Conventions have been held, addresses made, committees appointed and inflammatory publications issued,
with a view, we suppose to carry the object into the electioneering contest. To those whose curiosity is excited on the subject of Masonry, we offer the testimony of Washington, which must command the respect of every honorable man, and allay the apprehensions of the most weak and credulous.

Gen. Washington, observes—
"Being persuaded that a just ap-

the Masonic fraternity is founded,

terests of the society, and to be considered by them as a deserving

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

TWO GARDENS

A rich man strolled his garden
through
One morning in the spring.
Above his head the skies were
blue.
He heard a robin sing,
And proudly stood before the view
Of tulips blossoming.

A thousand tulips, row by row,
Flashed yellow, red and white.
It pleased him that his ground
could grow
So glorious a sight;
That mass of color seemed to glow
With infinite delight.

A little woman down the street
That morning in the spring,
Walked round her yard on happy
feet.
She heard a robin sing,
Twelve tulips near a window seat
For her were blossoming.

Above her head the skies were
blue.
For nature draws no line
Twixt great and low as mortals do.
On all the sun will shine,
And the tulips twelve which the woman grew
As the thousand, were as fine.

The Horse Doctor is all excited
this week, as he has just cured a

Raz Barlow found out today
some strangers haven't got a spark of sociability about them. The man was asked where he was go-got there, and what he had in his case, and the man only grunted

and went on about his business.

Clara Bow Stars In "The Fleet's In"

More than 300 extra players appear in Clara Bow's new starring picture entitled "The Fleet's In!"
The Majestic theatre attraction tonight and Tuesday.

Director Malcolm St. Clair, before actual production of the film was started, insisted that the men portraying "gobs" from Uncle Sam's fleet have previous naval training and experience at sea.

Clara Bow gives one of her strongest characterizations in this picture, according to advance reports. Critics have been lavish with their praise of the work of the flaming haired star.

James Hall and Jack Oakie have the featured supporting roles,
with a capable cast surrounding them.

The story concerns Miss Bow, portraying the role of a dance hall hostess, who is the center of a rivalry between Hall and Oakie.
How the story is brought to a brilliant climax is one of the many surprising and entertaining features of the film.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

Uncle Lucky, the nice old gentleman rabbit, was on his way home to his red shingled house on the corner of Lettuce Avenue and Carrot Street in Rabbitville, that pretty little town on the River Sippi. On the opposite side of the river lay Bunnybridge, which was reached in the good old summer time by taking the Billygoat Ferry Boat, and in the cold winter months
by skating across the icy covered river.

Well, as I started off to relate,
the old gentleman rabbit was motoring along in his Luckymobile
when all of a sudden something went wrong with his famous car, and it stopped, just like that, with a bumpety jar, and before the old gentleman rabbit could tighten a screw with the monkey wrench, a voice shouted:

"What are you doing, you old rabbit man?
Throw up your paws as quick as you can.
If you don't you'll soon learn what
a robber can do.
I'm sure you don't wish to be bitten in two."

"No, no, no, NO!" cried frightened Uncle Lucky. "But who are you?"

"I'll show you," answered the voice, and out jumped Danny Fox.
Dear me, he looked dreadfully sly
in his brown unials!
"Please, please don't bite," begged poor Uncle Lucky.

"Throw up your paws," commanded the wicked fox.
Of course there was nothing for the old gentleman rabbit to do but obey, so up went his paws, almost knocking off his precious wedding stovepipe hat.

"How much money have you in your pockets?" enquired the crafty old fox robber.

"Ten lettuce leaf dollar bills and 23 carrot cents and 14 pumpkin pennies," answered Uncle Lucky in a tremulous voice.

"That's not much for a rich old rabbit gentleman," growled Danny Fox. "Haven't you forgotten your old leather wallet?"

"No, sireebus!" replied Uncle

Lucky.
"Ha, ha!" chuckled the cruel
fox, "in that case, I'll just slip you into this old sack and carry you home on my hairy back."

"Come, come, Danny Fox," went on the old gentleman rabbit, getting braver by the minute. "If you do that you'll get only what little money I have with me. Besides, I'm willing to pay not to be bumped about in an old flour sack, lumpy lump on your hairy
back."

"What will you give me if I let you go, but take your money, you old scrawny rabbit bunny?" said the old robber fox.

"Twenty lettuce leaf dollar bills and 46 carrot cents," cried anxious Uncle Lucky. "You'll have to trust me! I'm a little short on change today, but my word is as good as my bond."

"I know that, Mr. Lucky Lefthindfoot. I agree, but let me first go through your pockets," answered Danny Fox. Presently he pulled out a big leather wallet.

"Ha, ha!" laughed that wicked beast. "I may find a gold bond."

But he didn't. No, siree. He found only a cigar coupon, two transfers
on the Lettucecure Trolley Road
and a prescription from Dr. Quack, the famous duck doctor!

"Fudge, and oh, dear," growled Danny Fox. "Take back your old wallet," and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

FRENCH RULE ADVOCATED AS CURE FOR MONTE CARLO POLITICAL ILLS

By J. F. Hanscom

Nice, France (AP).—Predictions
have been numerous along the Riviera that unless the June 1 election in Monte Carlo goes to the liking of the discontented elements
there, the principality of Monaco will, within six months, ask France to take over administration of the tiny realm.

The trouble is between the 700
voters of the country and the management of the Monte Carlo casino.
The citizens claim that they are being governed in the interest of a gambling ring instead of by the constitution.

Newspapers along the French Riviera have given considerable space to the situation and have been quoting history to prove that Prince Louis' little state is really a "ref" of France.

In the last year of the World War, on July 17, 1918, to be exact, a treaty was signed which gave France the right to intervene in the Monaco administration at any time that the principality might not be able to control its own affairs. That treaty was later incorporated by the treaty of Versailles. Other historic facts cited by the advocates of French annexation might be summarized as follows:

In 1631 Honoré II Grimaldi was granted the title of Prince of Monaco after the district had been a vassal state of the house of Savoy for nearly two hundred years. Ten years after getting his title Honoré
and Cardinal Richelieu signed a treaty by which Monaco went under the protection of Louis XIII. This fact was confirmed by the treaty of Utrecht in 1713.

Next came the French revolution and in 1793 the French National convention passed a bill uniting Monaco to France as part of the Alpes-Maritimes district of the republic.

The Napoleonic era saw Monaco buffeted about in the whirl of international politics, but in 1815 the principality was re-established under protection of the kingdom of Sardinia. The troops of that country garrisoned Monte Carlo until 1861 after the Treaty of Turin had again declared Monaco a part of France. That ends the story until the World War.

The value of the principality can be measured in dollars, of which there are hundreds of millions invested within its narrow bounds.
But there is also a small harbor of 42 acres extent, land locked and with a depth of 90 feet at the entrance and of 24 feet at the quay side.

Long-Sought Buddy Backs Soldier's Bid For War Decoration

Aberdeen, Wash. (AP).—The
"missing" corporal who will vouch for the authenticity of a story concerning a spectacular wartime feat by Lewis J. C. Poppe, of New Bremen, Ohio, has been found.

Poppe, who is seeking a distinguished service cross, has only to write to John Lea in Aberdeen to obtain confirmation of his genuine tale of capturing, single handed an unarmed, Max Christochowitz and 16 other German soldiers during the Argonne-Meuse offensive in October, 1918.

John Lea, Poppe's former corporal, for whom the New Bremen man has been searching, is working in an Aberdeen mill. He learned that Poppe was endeavoring to locate him when he read an Associated Press story telling of the World War feat and Poppe's bid
for the service cross.

"The day before Poppe's marvelous performance," related Lea, "we had gone over the top near the Ramoung-Lammerence road. In our outfit 250 had gone over and that night only 65 were left. I was the corporal of the squad which contained Poppe. During the day we had captured a German officer.

"When the offensive was over for the time being we were left on an outpost and didn't know where to get water. The German officer told us where water could be found and Poppe volunteered to go out after it. I had to get permission from the captain to let Poppe go.

"The location of the water was in dangerous territory. I finally got the permission from the captain, whose name was Boyd. I don't remember his first name and I don't know where he is.

"Poppe was suffering from gas
at the time. In order to handle the bulky canteens he laid aside his rifle and started out after the water. Poppe got lost and stumbled upon a detachment of cut-off Germans.

"Max Christochowitz was on sentry duty. Poppe, bluffing, warned Christochowitz that a detachment of Americans was with him and the Germans surrendered without question. Poppe picked up a rifle from the battlefield and herded the Germans back to the American trenches.

"During the drive there were several gangs of Germans who were cut off and waiting in shell holes to be captured, but our squad was the outpost of a wedge driven deep in German territory and we were surrounded by the enemy on three sides. The 17 Germans captured by Poppe were belligerent, and were not waiting to be taken.

"It was only Poppe's magnificent bluff that saved his life and made prisoners of the Germans."

Poppe and Christochowitz later met again in an American hospital and became good friends. After the armistice the men corresponded and last January the German came to the United States and with the assistance of Poppe obtained a position as an accountant
in Lima, Ohio.
Poppe has the support of Chris-

Potato Shipments
By Rail Increase
Shipments of potatoes by rail as well as by motor truck have increased in Pennsylvania during recent years, according to the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets. During 1928, growers in the commonwealth loaded 4,296 cars of potatoes, nearly 800 above the 1927 loadings.

Lehigh continues to be the heaviest shipping county, having loaded 1,016 cars during the year, but York was a close second with 943 cars. Other counties with heavy shipments were Lancaster, 417 cars; Lebanon, 301 cars; Franklin, 274 cars, and Potter, 243 cars.

Germansville, Lehigh county, shipped 328 cars and maintains the lead which it has held for years as the heaviest shipping point in the commonwealth. Hokendauqua, which held second rank in 1927, shipped 157 cars, but was surpassed in 1928 by Chambersburg and Myerstown, these two centers shipping 164 and 161 cars, respectively. Brownstown, York county, and Tripoli, in Lehigh, followed with 137 and 134 cars.

In commenting further on Pennsylvania rail shipments, the Bureau of Markets pointed out that car loadings during 1928 represent only about eight per cent of the Pennsylvania production. The remainder of the crop is sold principally in local markets, at roadside stands, or is used on the farm for food, for seed purposes, or for stock feeding.

Sues Fighter

(By Pacific & Atlantic)

Germaine Monterein of New York is suing Pierre Charles, Belgian heavyweight pugilist, for $50,000 charging breach of promise. He was just as deadly with his right hand out of the ring as in it, she claims, and she has honey-sweet love letters to prove it. They're shown in above photo.
